

Presenter Bio

Shannon O'Fallon, J.D., is a Senior Assistant Attorney General with the Oregon Department of Justice and graduated from the University of Oregon School of Law in 1993. After law school Shannon moved to Alaska and worked for the Alaska Attorney General's Office for over seven years, representing both human services and natural resources agencies. She has been with the Oregon Department of Justice since April, 2002, and has advised the Public Health Division since 2004. Shannon has been advising the medical marijuana program since 2005 and has written most of the rules implementing the medical marijuana programs. In addition, Shannon has helped the Oregon Liquor Control Commission implement marijuana legalization since the passage of Measure 91 in 2014.