

Join more than 1200 members statewide who support the Oregon Women Lawyers mission to transform the legal profession by pursuing equitable access to the legal system and equity for women and communities who are systemically oppressed. OWLS is a great way to develop a network of support and make meaningful connections with other professionals with similar interests.

Local Chapters for Lewis & Clark Students

Three OWLS chapters surround Lewis & Clark: Clackamas Women Lawyers, Multnomah County Queen's Bench, and Lawyers' Association of Washington County. In addition to regular chapter meetings, these chapters host networking and community events that law students are welcome to attend. More details here: <https://oregonwomenlawyers.org/chapters/>
